THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. [REDACTED] the projects for construction of a new tar distilling installation, a new benzol distilling installation, and of a new fatty acid installation, planned to increase the usefulness of the Luetzkendorf plant, were dropped because of financial difficulties and material shortages. However, plans are now being made to increase the capacity of the Luetzkendorf mineral oil plant power station which was partly destroyed during World War II. Plans call for the expansion of boiler installations and for restoring the power generating installation to 55,000,000 kw-hr for power supply to East Germany.

2. [REDACTED] investments totalling 6,000,000 east-marks have been provided for further expansion of the Luetzkendorf power station.
